SEASONED CORPORATE LAWYERS LAUNCH BOUTIQUE LAW FIRM, GREYKEEL, P.C.

Firm focuses on emerging companies, venture capital and M&A.

Boston, MA, September 9, 2025 – GreyKeel, P.C. today announced its official launch. The boutique corporate law firm is headquartered in downtown Boston and opens with two experienced corporate partners, Byron Crowe and Kate Georgen. GreyKeel’s practice is focused on emerging companies, venture capital and mergers and acquisitions.

The founding team has two decades of combined experience in corporate legal matters, including senior roles at major U.S. law firms, and has collectively worked with hundreds of company and fund clients. They have experience representing companies and investors in the U.S. and abroad in a variety of industries, with a focus on high-growth verticals, including technology and life sciences.

“We are excited to be launching GreyKeel,” said Crowe. “Kate and I have known each other for over a decade, and we’ve had similar, rewarding careers in the corporate practice. Our experience and overlapping skillsets, combined with a nimble platform, will be a big value-add for clients.”

The firm differentiates itself from traditional law firms by being more agile and focusing on business-minded outcomes for clients. “We’re committed to delivering a collaborative, client-centric experience for the teams we work with,” said Georgen. “And we’re grateful to the companies and funds that are joining us at GreyKeel.” Crowe added: “Clients want access to sophisticated, senior counsel; they want efficient outcomes; and they want a personal touch. That’s what we’re delivering.”

After GreyKeel’s launch this month, the firm plans to expand, focusing on lateral hires with complimentary transactional practices.
